Dear Sir Dindy;

In response to the Show Cause Order issued by your office, dated May 7, 2018 requesting Concur (Philippines) Inc to respond why there should be no administrative sanction to be imposed to us, please be informed of the following processes that we takes placed in relation to this purchases:

1. That, our Team prepared the 8105 dated April 16, 2018 and hand over to our Broker, Del Pilar Brokerage April 20, 2018
2. That, we were advised by our Broker that we will only secure a Surety Bond if PEZA would require and thus advises us to proceed with the actual delivery
3. That, actual delivery happens on April 19, 2018
4. That, on April 23, Del Pilar advices us that PEZA do requires Surety Bond and started securing such bond to cover our purchases that causes further delay.
5. That, the calculation of the period for the lead-time for compliance includes the Saturdays and Sundays (Calendar and no longer working days) which is not our usual understanding.

With all the dates as mentioned above, it is with the honest desired of the entity to file and secure the necessary PEZA approval prior to actual delivery. It is unfortunate that circumstances on getting the right understanding of when and when not to secure Surety Bond and the correct understanding on how to determine the correct lead-time to comply is something that we had confusion with our Broker that resulted to its delay.

In this regard, we would like to seek your kind consideration to please consider our situation that we are not to be reprimanded and should be NO administrative sanctions to be imposed on us.

It is likewise worth mentioning to please enlighten us as to when to secure Surety Bond and the right understanding of calculating the 5 days compliance with PEZA.

Sincerely,

Hazel Ruth Taparan
